Ball Players are Best Between 30 and 35

President McAleer, of Boston Red Sox, Says Men Learn to Think by the Time They Reach 30—Thinks Each Man Should Save $30,000 When He Is 35.

BOSTON, Mass., June 5.—"A baseball player ought to be at his best between 30 and 35," says Jas. H. McAleer, "and he ought to save $30,000 while in baseball."

If McAleer's remark is actually true, these ball-players are unquestionably the best of all outdoor sports, so far as the players themselves are concerned. In no other branch of athletics can a man, as a rule, stand the strain and age, say, 27 or 28, and still be all of them back to back at about 30. And how many men have saved $30,000 at the age of 35?

"Of course a man isn't so fast after 30 as he was before," added the Red Sox president. "But he has learned to think by that time, and he should be more valuable to his club after 30 than before—because he has learned to think of himself."

As evidence McAleer might mention Jimmy Archer, the Cub premier catcher, who is regarded as one of the best there is, and is 30 years old. "Chief" Bender, who is 30, and who is will some "chief," notwithstanding he hasn't taken such good care of himself as an athlete should. Al Bridwell, who is 32; Mordcai Brown, 31; Jimmy Callahan, 30; Frank Chance, 31; Hal Chase, 29; Fred Clarke, 41; and who was playing manager of the Pirates until he was 32; "Birdie" Cravath, 31; Sam Crawford, 32; "Birdie" Cree, 31; Harry Davis, 40; "Red" Dooin, 33; Pat Dougherty, who was doing things at 35; "Rip" Evers, who is 27; Johnny Evers, 36; Russell Ford, 30; Artie Hootman, 31; Hughie Jennings, 42; Johnny Kling, 30; Tommy Leahy, 30; "Lefty" Liefield, 30; Larry Lajoie, 38; Cutty Mathewson, who pitched the best game in his career last October, when he was just past 32; McPherson, 31; Matty McIntyre, 32; Mike Mitchell, 30; Earl Moore, 34; Mike Morrey, 30; George Sullivan, 32; Eddie Plank, 38; Ed Ruelbach, 30; Lew Richter, 30; Frank Schulte, 31; Jimmie Sheppard, credited with 24 years, but who, they say, is two years older; "Cabe" Street, 30; Jake Stahl, 34; Ira Thomas, 32; Joe Tinker, 30; Honus Wagner, 29.

Gossip About Sport Stars

ARTICLES of agreement have been forwarded to Johnny Dundee, now at Venice, for the 19 round bout with Tommy Dixon at Albuquerque on July 4. Both of the featherweights have agreed on the terms and have indicated their willingness to sign the contracts immediately. Dixon fought Kibane a 10 round draw in Cleveland about a year ago.

Seaton, star pitcher of the Philadelphia Nationals, is a native of Meeker, Colo. During his youth, Seaton was not looked on as a very promising lad, but had a strong penchant for baseball. Now he is Philadelphia's premier pitcher. Seaton left Meeker several years ago and nothing was heard of him until he sprung into prominence as a National league player.

Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, will meet Dr. Fowler of Seattle, Saturday night, at Chicago, participating in the field day benefit for the House of the Good Shepherd. The match will be two out of three falls, and will be refereed by Packer McFarland, cleverest boxer of his weight in the world. If the boxing bill passes the legislature there will be some exhibition bouts with Packer McFarland participating.

Kid Williams and Earl Puryear have been matched for a 10 round bout at Greeley, Colo. Williams and Puryear are considered to be the best bantamweights in the state of Colorado.

Johnny Evers is disgusted with his twirling staff and several of the Cubs are slated for the blue envelope unless they show some form immediately. Evers declares that they will have to pitch winning ball or risk losing their positions. Jimmy Lavender is one of the pitchers who disappointed Evers.

Charlie White has started training for his bout with Johnny Lora, of New York, at New Orleans on June 3. White has been promised a battle with Jack Britton if he defeats Lora. White is willing to box Britton at 135 pounds, provided he weighs in at 6 o'clock.

The Ballot For Women

With It She Will Not Have to Flirt With Politicians to Get a Bill Passed.

By Dorothy Dix

MR. ARTHUR DODGE, leader of the anti-suffragists and our greatest unconscious humorist, is out with a brand new explanation of why women want to vote. He says that the suffrage question is nothing on earth but a sex disturbance, and that in trying to get the ballot women are only making a sex appeal to men.

What anti-suffragists have heretofore claimed was that the suffrage movement was a sex war.

One contention is just as silly and unworthy of the serious consideration of sensible people as the other.

On the very face of it, it is idiotic that there could be any great popular movement that had for its object the fostering of antagonism between the sexes. Any such idea would fail at its very birth.

Sex Cry Will Always Be Inevitable.

Nature would say it in her very beginning, for as long as men are men and women are women, the cry of sex to sex will be the loudest and most insistent call in the world.

Anybody who seriously argues that men and women can ever be arrayed against each other, is arguing from the affection between them, the man's interest and the woman's stand of fall together. Whatever makes for the prosperity of one makes for the good of the other. What drags one down into the pit carries the other into the abyss.

We are the wives and sisters, and daughters of the men who want low tariff or high tariff, our husbands, and our brothers and our fathers are manufacturers, or farmers, or merchants; our fortunes will be affected just as much as men's by currency laws. We are bound to men by every tie of blood, and heart, and pocket, and the idea of our fighting them is as absurd as to suppose we will all go daff and cut our own throats.

The idea of a sex war between men and women is so ridiculous that it is no wonder that even the anti-suffragist Donna Quixotes got tired of fighting that windmill. But Mrs. Dodge's brand new theory that the suffrage movement is an insidious sex appeal to men is equally fantastic and imaginary.

Let Women Be Not Need Vote.

The article says that women do not need to vote because they can persuade men to vote the way they want. They contend that it is easier to jolly a man into doing what you want him to do than it is to do it yourself, and less labor to work him than to do the work with your own hands. When you want to get a bill passed for some measure you are interested in, or an appropriation for your favorite charity, they advise you to put on your prettiest frock and your most bewitching hat, and go up to the legislature and make eyes at the men. They say that you can flatter a man, particularly if you are good looking, into voting for anything, and such being the case, why bother with the ballot?

Now when a woman talks about using her "sweet womanly influence," she knows perfectly well that what she really means is that she is going to make the choral of sex with a hand that practice has made unerring in its touch. She's going to use every coquetry, and blandishment, and cajolery, and will that have come down from the days of Eve and Delilah to the days of the present. Using your womanly influence is the devious and sly path that leads in the same direction, but that no woman treads without betraying her skirts.

The woman lobbyist is no credit to her sex. We want to save any woman from having to stoop to do her work. That's why we want the ballot.

Little Bobbie and His Pa

Bobbie Tells About Pa's Flirt With Two Women Whose Daughters Are to Marry.

By William F. Kirk

THERE was two women up to the house last night. Both of them had daughters which is best going to get married & that makes them feel kind of awkward themselves. I guess because that is all that they did all the time they was to the house, talk and talk and talk like it a bit hearkens both of the women was older than he is, & I have often heard Pa say that women should talk about other topics than love when they get middle aged, topics like church work or how much life insurance these husbands is going to leave them when they die.

One of the women was named Missus Deisher. Missus Raymond sed to Pa:

I was just telling your wife befoor you came in the room how sweet & innocent & curliish my little daughter looked today when she was looking over your sum pretty material for her prom dress. I remember the time you seemed so charming and confused and bewilderingly pretty that I almost ended the man that is going to talk her away from me, sed Missus Raymond. Then she began to cry.

I don't think I wud cry if I was you, dearest. Me sed to her. Do myrself & talk comfort in thinking about the pretty hoam that her husband is going to make for her. May be you will be there a grate deel of the time. Won't that be nice & comfortable? Me sed to her.

It will be pretty nice if corn beef for her husband, sed Pa, the young woman's husband, I mean. Wife, sed Pa, I suppose you remember the time your loving mother came here all the way from Wisconsin & started rite in trying to be the managing editor of our little hoam. Of course you remember it, sed Pa. Will you ever forget, sed Pa, the look of pained surprise that came into her eyes when I explained to her, as gently as I cud, that she didn't have anything in the world to say about the management of my domestic affairs? If my memory doesn't fail me, Pa sed, & I do not think it does, she staid only three days instead of all summer.

You acted like a perfect case man all the time she was here. I remember that, sed Ma. No wonder my poor mother sedum menahus you in her letters.

As I was saying about my daughter, sed Missus Raymond, I cudn't help thinking as I sat there & saw her, a dainty head with youth's fresh bloom on her cheeks, that no man in this world was good enuff to be the husband of my elvins a creecher. Of course the man she is going to marry is a splendid young man & is the vice president of a big bank. But even if he were the president of the United States, sed Missus Raymond, he wudn't be good enuff for my daughter. No man is good enuff for a woman.

They are good enuff for a woman around pay day, sed Pa. I have always noticed that when it gets near the first of the month my wife begins looking in my head for gray hairs & calling me her deer old boy. & the morning of pay day, Pa sed, she always follows me to the door & kisses me agreeable & curliish head with youth's fresh bloom on her eyes, & says Be sure & come rite hoam after you git yure pay today, wud you, yure dear?

I never do any such thing, sed Ma, & I agree with Missus Raymond that
